DEBATE WITH WOMEN MARKS NEW FEATURE IN BLUE'S FORENSICS

New Hampshire Co-Ed Trio To Meet Men In Mead Chapel Tuesday

The women's debating team representing the University of New Hampshire will oppose the varsity debaters here in Mead Memorial Chapel on Tuesday evening. The co-eds will uphold the affirmative side of the timely question of government ownership and operation of anthracite coal mines.

This coming debate will mark a new feature in intercollegiate debating at Middlebury, since it will be the first time that a women's team has appeared here. Much interest has already been displayed and it is expected that a record crowd will be present to witness the efforts of the girls in matching their wits against the men debaters.

The New Hampshire trio, according to information received from Durham, is composed of experienced and able debaters who should provide a severe test for the Blue. The team is captained by Miss Gwendolyn Jones '27. She is very active in campus affairs, now being president of the student government association. She is a member of the Delta Kappa sorority. Carolyn Wood '28, the second speaker, a member of Alpha Xi Delta, is a former interscholasitc prize speaker of outstanding ability, while the third member of the trio, Gladys Harris '27, is considered to be one of the ablest speakers in the college. She holds several important campus offices, and is also a member of Alpha Xi Delta.

While the Middlebury team has not yet been named, Coach Davison will use the strongest team available in this debate. According to present plans, this will be the only home debate of the season.

JUNIOR PLAY CAST ANNOUNCED TODAY

Judges Find Much Dramatic Ability to Fill Roles of "Honor Bright"

Fifteen members of the junior class were chosen to fill roles in "Honor Bright", the Junior Play, as a result of the tryouts held Monday afternoon in the Old Chapel.

The competition was unusually keen for about forty members of the class tried out and a large amount of talent was discovered. The judges for the tryouts were Professor Frank W. Cady, Professor William S. Burrage and William H. Purdy '26, who is to coach the play.

The title role of "Honor Bright" will be played by Cleone Comings. Her ability as an actress has been amply proven in dramatic club performances of the past two years. Mervin McCutcheon, who did unusually good work in the recent production of "Grumpy" will take the part of Richard Barrington. The cast in full is given herewith.

Prexy Leaves For Florida

President Paul D. Moody left Middlebury Saturday for Florida where he is spending a ten day vacation as the guest of Charles M. Swift, a member of the board of trustees. President Moody is expected to return the latter part of next week. Sunday morning he delivered a sermon at chapel services at Massachusetts Agricultural College, Amherst, Mass.

Norwich Upsets Vermont By 24-20 in Basketball

Norwich sprang the biggest surprise of the basketball season when it defeated Vermont by the score of 24 to 20 at Northfield Monday evening. The Green and Gold, entering the game slightly overconfident, failed completely in its effort to keep its record clean against state opponents. Except for a few moments at the outset of the game when Marvin opened the scoring, the Cadets held the lead continuously. The score at the end of the half was 16 to 8.

Although defeated, Vermont's right to the state title is not impaired for it was her only loss of the season to a state opponent.

The final standing of the year in Vermont state basketball is:

Team	W	L	Pct
Vermont	5	1	.800
Middlebury	4	2	.667
Norwich	3	3	.500
St. Michael's	0	6	.000

TENNIS TEAM HAS ELEVEN MATCHES ON SPRING SCHEDULE

Five New Opponents on List Announced Today By Mgr. Hickcox

Eleven matches against eight different opponents are on the tennis schedule for 1926, as announced by Manager Edward S. Hickcox '26, this morning. The schedule is the largest and most well-balanced ever drawn up for the Middlebury racquet wielders and brings the Blue into competition with several of the leading teams in New England. Five of the opponents are to be met for the first time in tennis.

The team will make three trips, playing six games away from home. The season opens with a trip to meet St. Stephen's at Annandale, N. Y., on April 30 and R. P. I. at Troy the following day. Neither of these teams have been met before on the tennis court. Three games are scheduled on a trip into southern New England the third week in May. The Blue is to meet Amherst on the nineteenth and Wesleyan and Springfield on the two succeeding days The latter two have administered defeats to Middlebury in the past two years while Amherst has not been met before. Middlebury and Vermont cross racquets at Burlington, May 28.

Manager Hickcox has arranged to have five good matches on the home

COLLEGE BAND TO APPEAR IN FIRST CONCERT TONIGHT

Will Play in Gym Before Leaving For Two Day Tour

The privilege of hearing for the first time the excellent concert program that the college band has prepared for its two day trip next week will be extended to Middlebury students and townspeople at eight o'clock this evening in the gymnasium when the organization gives its first public concert. The success of the band which was organized last fall and which proved to be so popular during the football season is due quite largely to the work of Dean Wiley and Director Lechnyr, both of whom have spared no effort in their work with it. Since the band has been working all winter on its concert program it is expected that it will prove to be even more popular than it was last fall.

Features of the concert are to be a trumpet solo by Director Lechnyr and selections by the college male quartet composed of Messrs. Bacon, Perrin, Newcomb, and Thompson.

The program will be as follows:

Part I. 1, March, "The Grand Eagle" by Lembo; 2, Overture, "Mignonette," by Bauman; 3, Fantasia for saxophone played by Mr. Huntington, "Scenes that are the Brightest" (from Maritana), by Wallace; 4, Descriptive, "American Patrol," by Meacham.

Part II. 5, Trumpet solo, played by Mr. Lechnyr, "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" (from "Samson et Dalila"), by Saint-Saens; 6, Selection "Campus Memories," by Seredy; 7, Three selections by the College Quartet, (a), "Heigho-Ho! I Love You," by Geibel; (b) "Secrets," by Smith; (c), Gamaliel Painter's Cane;" 8, Scense from the "Sunny South," by Lampe; 9, Finale, "Rallying Song," Star Spangled Banner.

The thirty-five members of the band accompanied by the male quartette, Director Lechnyr and Dean Wiley will leave here Thursday morning, March 11 for their two-day trip. That afternoon they will present their program in the Fort Edward High School, Fort Edward, N. Y. In the evening the concert will be given in the new Glens Falls High School building, Glens Falls, N. Y. Returning the next day, the last presentation of the program will be made Friday evening in the Town Hall at Brandon

Green and Gold Hoopsters Pushed to Limit In 30-24 Game

CONSISTENT FOUL SHOOTING WINS

Victors' Margin Never Large —Blue in Lead Once in Second Half

Middlebury's quintet lost the game that above all others it wanted to win when the University of Vermont invaded the McCullough gymnasium Friday evening and left with a 30 to 24 victory and the championship of the state. The game was one of the most bitterly contested battles ever seen in the gym, for to the intensive rivalry that characterizes every Middlebury —Vermont game was added the fact that before the game the Black Panther had been conceded the best chance in years to beat the Green and Gold on the basketball court. Vermont fought desperately and successfully to keep her record clean. Middlebury fought just as hard and just as desperately to gain a tie for the championship but lost out. Although the score shows a difference of only six points it hardly indicates the closeness of the game for most of the time there was not a difference of more than a point or two in the score and not until the last minute of play did Vermont hold a lead of as much as six points. Middlebury was ahead twice, scoring the first basket and forging ahead by a single point once late in the second half. Six different times during the game the score was tied, five times Vermont was only one point ahead

QUINTET BARELY WINS LAST GAME

Noses Out 21-20 Victory Over St. Michael's Last Night

In the closest game played in McCullough Gymnasium this year the Blue and White barely managed to nose out St. Michael's 21-20 in the final game of the season thus erning the title to second place in the state series. Middlebury entered the game favored to win by an easy margin but it was soon evident that they would have to play a hard game to beat out their rivals from Winooski.

The game was poorly played with neither team evidencing a great deal of ability at either passing or shooting. In the first half the lead changed hands constantly although the Blue led 12 to 10 at its close. Early in the second half Middlebury pulled ahead with a good lead but in the closing minutes St. Michael's staged a rally that was cut short by the whistle when it lacked only a point of tying the score.

Towne, with seven points and Sorenson with six points were high men for Middlebury. Whalen, right forward for St. Michael's was the outstanding star of his quintet both in field goals and fouls, contributing ten of his team's 20 points.

Capt. Rice, W. R. Rice, Knowles and Towne appeared for their last time in basketball uniform for Middlebury as did also McNeil, although he did not get into the game. For all five of these men it was the end of a four year career in basketball.

DESERVED RECOGNITION

To those whose election to Phi Beta Kappa was announced yesterday we extend our congratulations. It is the public reward for four years of conscientious endeavor. The greater reward for this work, however, has already begun to come to these people and will prove invaluable to them throughout life. No one can ever take from them the knowledge which they have gained here. It is fitting, however, that their work should be recognized and it is also fitting that this should be considered the highest honor which an undergraduate can obtain.

BEST—THEN WHAT?

It seems to be a favorite habit of Middlebury students to talk in terms of superlatives. Whether it be concerning the speed of play in a basketball game, the intensity of a snowstorm or the appearance of some new clothes, it is always "the fastest game ever seen in the gym," "the worst storm Middlebury ever had" or "the best-looking suit in college." The youthful enthusiasm that calls forth these expressions is commendable and should be encouraged. Yet wouldn't it be better to stop to think a minute before making these strong assertions? A good many basketball games have been played here, most of them before any of us were enrolled as freshmen, and it is saying a great deal to assert that any particular one is the fastest ever played in the gym. In the one hundred and twenty-five years of the college's existence to say nothing of the innumerable years before then, it is quite probable that there have been worse snowstorms in the vicinity than any that we have ever seen. And though your new clothes may be exceptionally well tailored, it is not beyond the range of possibility that another person may have some equally as good.

Not alone in these few instances, but in many things, we constantly hear used the adjectives, best, worst, fastest, most, hottest, coldest and others. A moment's thought would suffice to show the extravagance of ninety-nine per cent of the statements that are made. The constant use of superlatives has the effect of deadening all comparative statements. In order that we may better appreciate something unusual when it does happen, wouldn't it be better to classify all things more accurately?

A LULL BEFORE THE STORM

It may be worth while to call attention to the fact that the next three weeks offer the best chance of the semester to put in good work on studies. Since it is a between-season period in athletics there is a lull in outside activities. Slushy weather will not make it very attractive out-of-doors. It is an excellent time to make up back work and make class standings as high as possible. Those who do so, will later have cause to be thankful for there is no time of the year when it is harder to work than in April, May and June. Reaching their culmination in Junior Week, but not greatly subsiding after that, are innumerable events to distract one from studies. The student who studies now will be thankful when final examinations come in June.

DONALD MAC MILLAN

Newspapers are wonderful creations. We who have always been able to pick up a morning paper and even an evening or extra edition, if we so desire, can hardly realize what life was before the circulation of the newspaper became so tremendous. In those days people could not follow from day to day the events or the matters discussed in Congress or the steps of great expeditions such as William Beebe or Donald MacMillan have led. But we are privileged, between the newspapers and the radio to hear almost hourly reports of such things as the Roosevelt's rescue of the Antinoe or the results of some great athletic match. Who of us did not watch the papers for news of Donald MacMillan and the Bowdoin for reports of the plucky pilots flying over the frozen north—a land totally unknown to us by experience but vividly visualized in our own minds through the efforts of great explorers.

The background of knowledge built up by the press has been just enough to inspire most of us with eager curiosity to hear the great explorer himself tell of experiences which many of us would have been thrilled to share. It is rather difficult for a group such as we to render any unusual form of tribute to a man like Donald MacMillan whose name is on the lips of every civilized race and whose country pays him tribute at every turn. The finest way that we can show our admiration and praise for what great men are doing is to take an active interest in their work and to become intelligently acquainted with their aims so that we can support them to the limit for the sake of humanity.

The reception which Mr. Beebe received when he gave his fascinating lecture on the Galapagos was proof enough of the impression he made upon his audience. But how many there really knew anything about his work before they went to the lecture? And yet for months the magazines and papers had been full of Mr. Beebe's articles. Without a doubt the name of Donald MacMillan and his work are more familiar to everyone than the name of William Beebe. That is because Mr. MacMillan's name has been seen more frequently in the headlines—that part of the paper which everyone reads. But of his plans, the events of his expeditions, of the man himself—how much do the majority of us know? It is a crime in these days of enlightment to be satisfied with a superficial knowledge gleaned from the headlines. Such knowledge is a mighty poor tribute for us to lay at the feet of one of the world's great men.

CO-EDS AGAIN RANK HIGH IN AVERAGES

S. P. E. Has Best Fraternity Rating; K. K. G. Leads Sororities

Scholastic averages arranged by fraternities and by classes for the first semester of the college year 1925-1926 again show the women to be leading the men, according to the figures as officially announced through the CAMPUS today by Miss Jennie Bristol, college registrar. The total average for the men's college is 76.24, slightly lower than that of last year, while the average in the women's college is 81.95. The total average of all students in college stands at 78.91.

Sigma Phi Epsilon leads the fraternities with an average of 78.24. The Neutrals with an average of 78.10 take second place while Beta Kappa has the third highest average.

Kappa Kappa Gamma has the best scholastic average among the sororities as well as among all fraternities and sororities in the college. The Kappas' average is 84.30. Alpha Xi Delta is second with an average of 82.77 while Delta Delta Delta is third.

Miss Bristol has also compiled the average of the members of each class in each fraternity and sorority. The highest average of any class group in the college was 86.15, earned by the neutral women of the senior class. The freshmen of Delta Kappa Epsilon had the worst average, 67.65, the only average in the college below 70.

It is found in nearly every group that the average of seniors is the highest. All of the senior men had an average of 80.44 while all of the senior women had an average of 83.53, making the average of the entire class exactly 82.

The freshmen's averages in all of the sororities and in Sigma Phi Epsilon were not averaged in with their group because of the fact that initiations were not held during the first semester.

ALUMNI NOTES

At a luncheon given at the home of Frank W. Simmonds, 620 W. 116th street, New York City, on Washington's Birthday, announcement was made of the engagement of his daughter, Miss Lillis Dale Simmonds, to Daniel Howard Moreau '20. Miss Simmonds is a graduate of the University of Maryland, class of 1924, and is a member of the Sigma Delta sorority. She is a teacher in home economics in Flemington High School. Mr. Moreau, who is a member of the Chi Psi fraternity, is editor and manager of the Hunterdon County Democrat, published at Flemington, N. J. No time has been set for the wedding.

First Matches Played In Squash Tennis Tourney

The first lap of the Squash tennis tourney is to be completed this Friday. Delay has caused the dates for the completion of the other rounds to be set back two days. Thus far Wolfskehl '27 has defeated Kammerer '29, Hindes '28 has defeated M. Hoyt '26, and Foster '29 has defeated Brooks '28.

Une Marche de Traineau Pour Les Jeunes Filles du Chateau

A happy party of fifteen girls and a few faculty members left the Chateau Wednesday evening for a sleighride to East Middlebury, where a delicious chicken pie supper was served at the Community House. Games and amusements followed. Judging from the many cheers and songs heard when the sleigh returned, everyone enjoyed the evening very much.

COMMUNICATION

"Mac" Anderson '25, Manager of Track For Two Years, Says Great Value Is Derived From Managerships

To the Editor of The Campus:

Possibly it is rather late to join in the discussion as to the value of trying out for and becoming a manager of one of the sports at Middlebury. Yet sometimes it is rather interesting to know just how one that has been through the mill looks back on his experiences.

In this matter of managerships I believe I am fairly well qualified to judge, as it was my privilege to be a major sport manager for two years, and on the other hand to be "left with no honor or reward" after an unsuccessful attempt for the position of manager in another sport.

Now looking back I feel that you are dead wrong in your statement that a man derives no good from this work. You must realize that it is not the good fortune of every man in college to have the physique to enable him to try for a place on one of the teams. Yet there are many fellows who desire to be connected with the sports and in some may to do something for their college. Scrubbing for a manager's job offers them an opportunity. As Klevenow says, the men working for a manager's job "get the spirit which is imbued in the teams themselves, a spirit that carries on disregarding setbacks, misfortunes and bad breaks, until the game is over." The team accepts the manager as part of it—and I believe a manager can do a lot toward making it easier for a team and keeping up the morale. Just the satisfaction that comes in being a part of a college team is worth all the work, and lime that one gets on one's clothes.

You would possibly be surprised at the number and nature of things that a manager is expected to see to, and know about, if he is to run his team the way he should. A manager must constantly be between two fires—the college authorities and his team, for you know in some particulars the desires and demands of each do not coincide. Working with men requires a fair understanding of human nature and some ability to get along with men. The training that a manager gets in this line is of great value when college days are over.

Again, in the actual work of making a schedule, estimating expenses, dickering with other managers and finally running off the schedule with its hundreds of details—the training received is of great value. Ask any business man what he thinks of the training a manager of a college team gets. It may interest you to know that of the eight men enployed last June by the company I am working with, chosen from the New England colleges, three of them to my knowledge are former managers.

You are quite right that a manager's job means a lot of work. It should for isn't the goal, the privilege of wearing an "M", worth it? I'll say it is. But it is not all work for there are experiences that will become pleasant memories. In the course of his work a manager really knows more men than he otherwise would. Through his daily contact with them and on the trips he makes friendships that can not be estimated in value.

Thus you see a manager wins the honor of wearing an "M" and the threefold reward of the practical value received, the happiness derived from his experiences, and the satisfaction of knowing that he is doing something for his college.

There are always two sides to a picture, and some that try for a manager's job must fail. But that does not necessarily mean that some should drop out. I can't imagine Middlebury encouraging such a procedure. It is all the more to a man's credit to try, knowing that the odds are against him. Naturally it is rather hard to work and then lose—not fail. Yet the satisfaction of having attempted the job is still there, and the men certainly respect the fellow who tries. To those who lose, it is just a little taste of what comes when you get into the business world. And college is a preparation for life. After all it is not a question of whether you win or lose, but how you play the game.

DEBATERS TO ARGUE WITH U.V.M. FRIDAY

Experienced Trios Will Talk For Both Sides—Coal Question Is Topic

The spring debating season, which includes five contests within a period of three weeks, opens Friday evening when Middlebury meets the University of Vermont at Burlington. Both colleges will put their best available trio on the platform for the rivalry in debating is as keen as it is in athletics. Last year, on the home platform, Middlebury won by a unanimous decision while the year before Vermont won a two to one decision at Burlington.

The question for debate Friday evening will be "Resolved: That the Federal Government should own and operate the anthracite coal mines." Middlebury will oppose government ownership. This will be the first time that any of the Middlebury debaters have discussed an economic issue in an intercollegiate debate, the questions in the past two years having concerned political issues.

Middlebury will be represented on the platform by the same trio which won a two to one decision over Syracuse here last fall. James S. Jackson '26, William T. Hade '26 and Dana S. Hawthorne '26 will speak in the order named while Frank Vecchiolla '28 will serve as alternate. All three of the speakers have been members of the debating team since their sophomore years. Jackson and Hawthorne participated in the first intercollegiate debate two years ago against Vermont and were defeated by a split decision. Hawthorne was a member of the team which won from the Green and Gold here last year. He will be participating in his tenth intercollegiate debate. Hade besides being an experienced debater, has an unusually broad knowledge of the question. Vechiolla, who is doing good work in his first year on the debating squad, was the winner of the Merrill Prize Speaking contest held last month.

Three seniors will represent the Green and Gold on the platform. They are W. J. Herron, Jr., F. W. Guild and J. J. O'Connell, Jr. Of the three, Herron who is manager and captain of the team, is the most experienced. He was the most effective speaker on the team that debated here last spring. Guild, who is also the captain of tennis, and O'Connell are both new on the team this year but are reported to be able speakers. The former is said to have made an excellent record as high school debater and prize speaker.

Other debates on the schedule as arranged by Manager Hawthorne include that against the New Hampshire women here Tuesday, one against Colby at Waterville, Maine, March 12 and ont-of-town contests with the University of Maine and Boston College just before Easter vacation. It is also possible that Massachusetts Institute of Technology will be met on this trip but this has not been definitely arranged for. In each contest, the coal question will be argued but in some Middlebury will be on the negative and some on the affirmative while all coal mines are involved in three of the debates and only anthracite in the others.

Baseball Date Changed

L. A. Smith, Manager of Baseball, through whose efforts the very attractive baseball schedule for this season was arranged, announced this morning that the second game with the Univsity of Vermont, which was originally carded for June 2 at Burlington has been changed and will be played on May 24 in order that it will not conflict with the examination period that will be starting at that time.

Eleven Matches On 1926 Tennis Schedule

courts. The first will be on May 8 when the Blue meets Boston University, a newcomer on the tennis schedule. Two good matches are listed for Junior Week, one against Vermont on Thursday, May 13, and another with Tufts on the following day. St. Stephen's will play a return match here on May 26. Middlebury is establishing athletic relations with the little college on the Hudson river in nearly every sport this year and finds that all of their teams are strong. The season closes Monday, May 31, when Springfield plays here.

The ability shown by a large number of men in the college tournament last fall together with the fact that there will be four letter men on the team, makes it seem probable that Middlebury will be represented on the courts by a strong combination. Manager Hickcox and Twichell '26 have both been with the team for three years. Wolfskehl '27 has earned his letter twice while Hindes '28 won a place on the varsity last year. These four men alone could compose a strong team but they will be aided by several others, most promising of whom are Seymour '27 and Foster '29. Both of these men did well in the class tourney last fall.

The schedule follows:

Apr. 30—St. Stephen's at Annandale.
May 1—R. P. I. at Troy, N. Y.
May 8—Boston U. at Middlebury.
May 13—Vermont at Middlebury.
May 14—Tufts at Middlebury.
May 19—Amherst at Amherst, Mass.
May 20—Wesleyan at Middletown.
May 21—Springfield at Springfield.
May 26—St. Stephen's at Middlebury
May 28—Vermont at Burlington.
May 31—Springfield at Middlebury.

Rev. Ashley Speaks At Vesper Services

Rutland Pastor Tells of Necessity of Serving Only One Master The Lord

"Choose ye this day whom ye will serve, as for me and my house, we shall serve the Lord," was the theme used by Reverened Morgan Ashley of Rutland, at vespers Sunday.

"Ye cannot serve two masters, for either ye will love one and hate the other or ye will bear with one and despise the other."

"I am the Way, the Truth, and the Light saith the Lord."

"Shall we worship the god of pleasure, which helps us only for the time being to forget our grievences, the god of work, or the God of the Cross?"

"Why attain the success of the world by wrong-doing? Let us, by doing the little things of life be Bearers of Christ."

always contributing greatly to the traditional success of that affair.

With a musical organization as well known as this for one of its attractions all prospects are favorable for one of the most memorable of Middlebury proms.

Plans for other details connected with the Prom are already well under way and further announcements concerning them may be expected soon.

Five Initiates At Sigma Kappa Banquet

The Sigma Kappa Banquet was held in the Baptist Church vestry at eight o'clock last Saturday evening following the initiation service. The tables were prettily decoraated with maroon and lavender, the Sorority colors, and maroon candles. The toastmistress was Mildred Clark '25. Responses were given by Ruth Jackson '26, Ruth Howland '27, Kathleen Brettell '29, Eva Marshall '28, Dorothy Haynes '26, and by the alumnae present. These included Harriet Grandy of Rutland, Vt., Miss Adelaide Ross Hoyt of Cornwall, Vt., Mrs. Ruth Jocelyn Chutter of Proctor, Vt., Miss Marion Dean of Bennington, Vt., Miss Beryle Gaylor '25 of Cliftondale, Mass., and Miss Mabel Dawson ex-'27. Miss Goodhue of Alpha Chapter, Colby College was a visitor. The initiates were Mildred Davis '28, Kathleen Brettell, Elizabeth Goodrich, Helen Haynes and Isabel Holt all of '29.

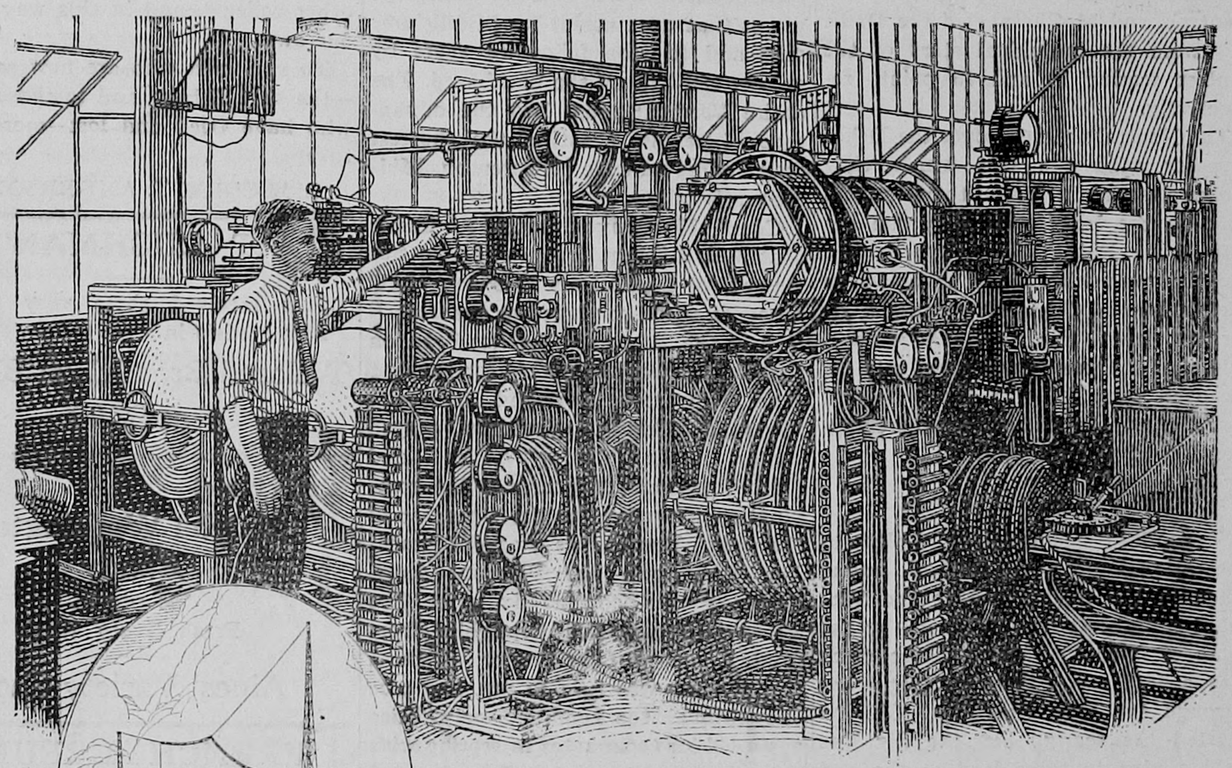
Sunday morning immediately following the Initiation breakfast in the Sigma Kappa rooms, Edith Markwell '28 was pledged.

"ARCTIC FROM AIR" M'MILLAN'S SUBJECT

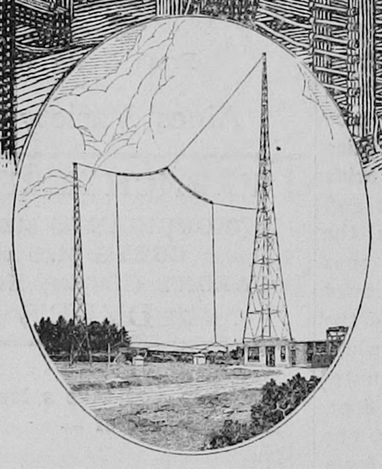
Tickets Placed On Sale For Lecture By Famous Explorer

Donald B. MacMillan, well-known lecturer and Arctic explorer, will give an illustrated lecture Thursday evening, March 11, in the Town Hall, on the subject, "The Arctic from the Air." The material for this lecture was gathered during the past summer by MacMillan on his latest trip to the North. This expedition was made under the auspices of the National Geographic Society with the cooperation of the Navy Department which furnished three giant planes of the new amphibian type. These were carried north on MacMillan's new ship, the Peary, which was accompanied by the Bowdoin as a headquarters ship for the expedition.

The low price of both the Beebe and MacMillan lectures; in fact the lectures themselves have been made possible through the financial aid of a friend of the college. Tickets have been on sale since Monday noon and up until this mornin 475 had been sold. About fifty tickets are still on sale



One of the power amplifier stages of the world's first super-power transmitter



Antenna of super-power transmitter

The World's Loudest Voice

On the rolling plains of South Schenectady, in several scattered buildings, is a vast laboratory for studying radio broadcasting problems. Gathered here are many kinds and sizes of transmitters, from the short-wave and low-power sets to the giant super-power unit with a 50- to 250-kilowatt voice.

Super-power and simultaneous broadcasting on several wave lengths from the same station are among the startling later-day developments in radio. And even with hundreds of broadcasting stations daily on the air throughout the land, these latest developments stand for still better service to millions of listeners.

Only five years old, yet radio broadcasting has developed from a laboratory experiment into a mighty industry. And alert, keen young men have reaped the rewards.

But history repeats itself. Other electrical developments will continue to appear. And it will be the college man, with broad vision and trained mind, who will be ready to serve and succeed.

From the studio of WGY in Schenectady, six miles from the developmental station, there may be controlled a great number of transmitters, one of which is the first super-power transmitter in the world. WGY, together with its associates, KOA of Denver and KGO of Oakland, is the General Electric Company's assurance to the American public that radio broadcasting shall be maintained upon the highest standards.

A new series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-1.

EUTRAL QUINTET WINS TWO GAMES

Victories Over D. K. E. and A. S. P. Give Neutrals Chance at Cup

Delta Kappa Epsilon's clean record of victories in interfraternity basketball was broken when the Neutral team defeated them in the McCullough gymnasium Thursday evening by a score of 33 to 23. The game was close, fast and well played, keeping the crowd of spectators interested and excited throughout. The Neutrals, playing in their best form of the season thus far, outplayed their unbeaten opponents in all but the third quarter of the game, and were able to keep on the long end of the score throughout. Although the D. K. E.'s were defeated they played an excellent game forcing the Neutrals to their best at all times. In the third quarter McChesney of the D. K. E.'s with the aid of excellent teamwork of the other members of the team broke through the Neutrals defense and with beautiful shots nearly overcame the lead. The period ended however, and the Neutrals profiting from the brief rest came back in the final period and increased their lead to ten points before the final whistle blew. Ferry of the Neutrals and McChesney of the D. K. E.'s were the individual stars of the contest scoring 18 and 15 points respectively.

The Neutral's victory over the Dekes together with the win which they scored last night gives them second place in the league. If they can defeat Sigma Phi Epsilon tomorrow in the one game which they have left on their schedule, they will go into a tie for first place. In that case it is probable that a three games series will be arranged in which the Neutrals and D. K. E. will fight it out for the championship of the college.

Sig Eps Beat Chi Psi's

Sigma Phi Epsilon took third place in the interfraternity basketball league when in the preliminary to the Vermont game it trimmed Chi Psi by the score of 13 to 10. Although the game was a fast one, the shots that went through the hoop were few. Chi Psi started the scoring but the Sig Eps held a nine to three lead at the end of the half. This proved to be too much for the losers to overcome when they started a rally in the second half. C. Jones of the Sig Eps was the star of the game.

Vermont Trims Blue; Takes State Title

while a two point lead was all that the winners held at seven different times. The score at the close of the first half was 15 to 14.

Middlebury's chief weakness lay in the inability to make free throws count for points. Only four free throws were made good, three of them being shot by "Bill" Rice in the last quarter. At least seven or eight shots were missed. The Vermont players, on the other hand, had an uncanny eye for the basket on fouls and made good eight out of eleven tries. In floor baskets the Blue had ten to Vermont's eleven and four of those shot by the winners were in the last five minutes of play.

There were no individual stars, for every man on the floor played with all the skill that he possessed. Prentice, right forward for Vermont, led in the scoring, making four floor baskets and four fowls for a total of twelve points. Captain Post at the other forward was playing a good game but the exceptionally close guarding of Hasseltine kept him from finding the basket more than three times. Katz and Price proved to be a good combination at guarding but were helped to a great extent by their superior height and weight. Both men are fully six feet tall and consequently were able to intercept passes that were meant for Middlebury men and to stop follow-up shots by getting the ball off the backboard. The entire Vermont team had the advantage of height, Prentice, the shortest man having an edge on Sorenson, Middlebury's tallest.

Coach Hargreaves started a lineup that was different from any that has started for Middlebury this year. "Al" Knowles, who has played at every position in the four years he has been on the varsity, was at forward for the first time this season, paired off with "Frankie" Towne. Sorenson played center while "Shorty" Rice and Hasseltine were at guards. The combination proved to be the strongest of the year. Hasseltine's excellent guarding kept down the Vermont score. Sorenson was continually after the Vermont center and kept him from getting a single floor basket, although the yearling was able to put two nice ones through the hoop. "Shorty" Rice again led his teammates in scoring with a total of seven points. Knowles and Towne worked well together on the offense, each tallying two pretty ones from the floor. When "Al" was forced to leave the game in the middle of the second half, "Bill" Rice took his place and for the remaining ten minutes played the fastest game on the floor, tallying a basket and three fouls, one of which put his team in the lead for a short time. Palmer replaced Towne in the last minute of play. Vermont made no substitutions.

The summary:

Hepburn Servitors Hold Annual Dinner Dance

Gruggel's Serenaders Play For Dancing; Steak Dinner Served in Commons

Forty couples gathered under a blue and white canopy in Hepburn social hall Saturday evening. These were the servitors—past and present—of Hepburn at their annual gay ball. Gruggel's Serenaders furnished music. Dancing started at four thirty and was interrupted at seven when a delicious steak dinner was served in the Commons. Following the dinner toasts were given, Dean Wiley serving as toastmaster.

The patrons and patronesses were President and Mrs. Moody, Dean and Mrs. Wiley, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz, Mrs. Mason, Miss Dutton and Miss Bowles. Much credit for the success of the event is due the committee—Robinson, '26, chairman, McLaughlin '26, Knowles '26, Novotny '26 and Newcomb '29.

Former Track Manager Believes Work With Teams Is Valuable

I quite agree with you that our method of selecting managers is not all that it could be, but that does not warrant discouraging men from going out for the job. What should be done is to investigate the methods used in other colleges, and in this way correct our own.

To you men who are now managers—the best of luck, and to those of you who have tried and lost—more honor to you.

MALCOLM T. ANDERSON, '25.

Rally in Second Half Wins

The Neutrals took another step in their drive toward the top of the interfraternity league when they staged a strong rally in the last half to beat out Alpha Sigma Phi 23 to 18 in the preliminary to the varsity game last night. The game was about even durign the first half which closed with the score standing 12 to 11 in favor of the Alpha Sigs. The non-fraternity men showed their full strength in the second half and with Goldstein leading the attack, soon piled up a winning lead. March and Goldstein starred for the winners while Babcock and Hendrix played best for Alpha Sigma Phi.

The league standing at present is as follows:

	W	L	Pct.
D. K. E.	5	1	.833
Neutrals	4	1	.800
S. P. E.	3	2	.600
K. D. R.	3	3	.500
Chi Psi	2	3	.400
A. S. P.	1	3	.225

Hillcrest Girls Have Sleighride

Thirty of the girls from Hillcrest went on a sleighride to East Middlebury last Thursday afternoon. A delicious dinner was served them at the Community House. The evening was spent in dancing and playing games. Although it was a distinct novelty to go sleigh riding garbed in a slicker and sitting in a pool of water, everyone enjoyed the ride. The chaperones were Miss Margaret Peck, and Miss Sarah Bailey, both of '25.
